I reviewed this nice lady today in clinic. I am pleased to report that she feels generally qu having recovered from her admission in November 2009. She was admitted for an EUA under gener anaesthetic but post-operatively became very unwell but the cause was slightly unclear at the operation note reports anus and rectal cuff looking grossly inflamed but the pouch was only m inflamed. Biopsies taken at that time have confirmed mild inflammation. Her symptoms regardin fairly stable and she is having her bowels open six or seven times a day which is usual for h taking 15 tablets of Loperamide and Dihydrocodeine to help with these symptoms. Her weight is she denies feeling thirsty, this is despite a recent urinary sodium which is low. The reason that she stopped her St Mark's solution when she came into hospital and did not restart it. I her other oral intake she has four cups of coffee and half a pint of lime and soda a day. Her symptom is that of generalised fatigue in the evening.

I think she should restart the St Mark's solution at a litre a day, being careful to restrict hypotonic fluid, as she did previously when her fluid balance was reasonable. I have arranged have a repeat DEXA scan to assess her bone density and asked to see her again in four months' repeat urine, sodium and blood test. She is a very sensible lady and if in the interim she ne us sooner we would be more than happy to arrange this.

Yours sincerely
